Figure A A USB trace shows a slow peripheral responding to a host's request for data. The host requests the data in packets 362 through 364. The peripheral is ready with the data in Packet 420. The intervening NAK packets demonstrate USB-flow control. The peripheral responds with NAKs until it is ready with data.