Figure 3 A microcontroller performs PFC by controlling the current so that it is sinusoidal and in-phase with the input voltage. The TI C2000 uses one control loop at 100 kHz to keep this input current sinusoidal and uses a second, slower control loop to keep the output voltage stable. The C2000 has sufficient CPU bandwidth to perform this task and multiple others for the system.